WINDS' WORK.

Birmingham, Ala., March 26.—Yesterday's storm was the worst cyclone that has ever visited North Alabama. It struck Birmingham shortly before 10 o'clock a. m. and destroyed a mile of buildings. The number of dead is placed at eighteen. Mayor Drennen estimates that 150 persons were injured. The property loss will probably not exceed $150,000, as the greater number of the buildings destroyed were small cottages and negro houses.

Among the dead are Dr. G. C. Chapman, of the firm of Tally & Chapman, who conduct a private infirmary in this city, and the wife and infant child of Hon. Robert J. Lowe, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee. Following is the list of identified dead and known injured:

Meanwhile Mayor Drennen opened a temporary relief station at Avenue I and Twenty-third street, here aid was given to all storm sufferers who applied. A special meeting of the Commercial club has been called for tomorrow to aid in raising funds for the relief of the storm sufferers. Already nearly $8,000 has been subscribed for this purpose.

RELIEF WORK GOING

ON RAPIDLY.

Birmingham, March 26.—The latest reports are that eighteen people were killed outright by yesterday's terrible storm and forty injured. The neighboring towns are rendering good assistance.

ATLANTA, TOO, A SUFFERER.

Atlanta, March 26.—Atlanta was visited by a very severe wind storm today and considerable damage done to property. The wires were all blown down. There was, however, no loss of life.

GRAND RAPIDS' FLOOD.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 26.—The reports of the heavy loss of life in yesterday's storm are greatly exaggerated. There were a few people injured, however. Two-thirds of the houses in the city are flooded, the streets are rivers and small boats are plying on them.

DESERTS WIFE.

From Monday's Daily.

Louis Allenburg, a shoemaker of South Second street, near Broadway, is missing, and at the same time he disappeared Saturday night $700 was drawn from the bank and his wife's $400 diamond earrings vanished. He left Saturday night without warning, and his wife has no idea in which direction he went. She is in a delicate condition and is left with two small children to take care of.

Yesterday she went before Judge Sanders, told her story and swore out a warrant against her husband, charging him with grand larceny.

The police telegraphed far and near with a hope of apprehending the inhuman husband and father, but neither Marshal Collins nor Captain Bailey has succeeded in finding any trace of him.

Allenburg and his family came here about a year ago from New York and he opened up a shoe shop on Second street. The family seem to have seen better days, and that they had was evidenced by at least one relic of prosperity, the pair of $400 earrings owned by Mrs. Allenburg.

The couple got along fairly well, and the woman knows no cause for her husband's turpitude.

He drew out $700 of the $800 his wife had in bank, took the earrings, and left her the bank book with 100 to her credit, and the two children.

When it was suggested that perhaps Allenburg had gone back to New York she shook her head and declared he couldn't go back there. When asked if he had committed some crime she declined to answer.

The police think Allenburg is a criminal badly wanted elsewhere.

The woman is almost frantic over her predicament, and offers $50 of the $100 he left her for his apprehension.

Marshal Collins this afternoon ascertained that Allenburg purchased a ticket for Louisville, but has been unable to more definitely locate him.

IN COLD BLOOD.

From Tuesday's Daily.

Gus Henry, alias Hennington, a shantyboater, of Paducah, is wanted for the cowardly murder of his wife near Cairo Ill., last night. He fired three shots into her body from a skiff as she stood on her boat at Cash Island, seven miles to Cairo, killing her almost instantly.

The facts in the killing were reported to Capt. Henry Bailey about 7 o'clock last night by long distance telephone, and are that Gus Henry, alias Hennington, left Paducah yesterday morning on the Dick Fowler, and paid deck passage to Cairo.

He was armed with a 38-calibre Winchester rifle and wanted to go up on the boiler deck, saying he was on the lookout for a yellow shantyboat. He was not permitted to leave the lower deck, however.

The yellow shantyboat is the one in which his wife is alleged to have eloped with two other men about three weeks ago. The crowd made plaster images and sold them for a livelihood.

Henry must have discovered the boat at Cash Island as they went down. He left the Fowler at Mound City to talk to some one on the bank and came near being left.

At Cairo he disappeared, but evidently hired a skiff and rowed to Cash Island, seven miles away.

About 6:30 o'clock, before dark, he was seen to row up to the boat in which his wife was quartered.

He had the Winchester rifle within easy reach, and called her out.

She stood near the door, and angry words passed between them. In a few moments he pushed off, and when his skiff had gone only a few yards, turned, stood up, and leveled the gun at her, and fired. Three shots penetrated her body in quick succession, and tottering back into the door, she fell dead on the floor.

Henry rowed rapidly away and escaped on the Kentucky side of the river.

Captain Bailey was up early today on the lookout for the murderer, going to the 7:40 train with a hope that the fugitive would come back by way of Fulton, but he did not.

Henry is quite well known here, and it is believed would come back to his old haunts after having wreaked vengeance on his faithless wife for leaving him.
